

Senior Product Designer

Location: Hybrid (office and home working, 1-2 days per week in central London)

Contract: Permanent

Salary: £70k - £80k

Overview

We are seeking a Senior Product Designer to lead the creation of innovative learning experiences that inspire learners and empower teachers. As part of a dynamic team of designers and product managers, you'll play a key role in shaping the future of education.

At CENTURY, you will work across the user journey, managing research and usability projects while designing high-fidelity solutions. You'll collaborate closely with the Design team (led by Ruben, our Director of Design) and Product teams to enhance processes and foster a user-centric culture, and with Paul and Gareth (CPO and CTO) to translate our product vision into impactful designs. This role offers the opportunity to make a tangible difference in learners' lives.

About CENTURY

Founded by entrepreneur Priya Lakhani OBE in 2013, CENTURY is a team of 100 people dedicated to improving education through technology. Backed by long-term investors, our innovative AI-driven tools personalise learning and provide rich data insights to empower teachers and organisations. We partner with leading schools, universities, and companies globally.

Who You Are

We are looking for a Senior Product Designer who:

- Thrives in Independence: Works autonomously while driving innovative solutions.
- Brings Fresh Perspectives: Challenges conventional thinking with new ideas and builds consensus around them.
- Possesses Diverse Experience: Brings a wide range of design expertise to enrich our processes.

- Is Adaptable: Open to various technologies and methodologies, committed to continuous improvement.
 - Collaborates Effectively: Balances independent work with teamwork in a collaborative culture.
-

The Role

- Work alongside a team of product managers and engineers to design intuitive, visually engaging products that drive user engagement and learning outcomes.
 - Collaborate with content creators, ex-teachers, customer success, and other teams to test concepts and co-create solutions.
 - Balance user research, usability testing, and design work.
 - Use data and analysis tools to inform design decisions and evaluate outcomes.
 - Contribute to the development of design best practices and the design system.
 - Develop wireframes and prototypes to validate concepts and communicate ideas to stakeholders.
 - Stay updated on industry trends and competitor products.
 - Proficiency in Figma, Jira, and Miro is ideal, along with experience using Storybook.
-

About You

- Strong knowledge of design principles, typography, colour theory, and user-centred design.
 - Solid experience as a Product Designer, ideally in a senior role.
 - Ability to manage multiple projects simultaneously.
 - Strong storyteller, effectively engaging diverse stakeholders.
 - A robust portfolio showcasing impactful design work, including leadership in major product launches with measurable results.
 - Eligible to work in the UK.
-

How to Apply

Send your CV and covering letter to careers@century.tech with the subject line 'Senior Product Designer.'

What We're Offering

- Competitive salary of £70k - £80k.
- 25 days holiday (+5 rollover days) + bank holidays.
- Additional leave: your birthday off and three extra days between Christmas and New Year.
- Hybrid working with access to a Central London office.
- Option to work overseas for up to 3 weeks annually (must follow UK working hours).
- Regular company social events (in-person and online).

CENTURY Tech is committed to building a diverse and inclusive team reflecting the communities we serve. We welcome applications from all backgrounds and ensure equal opportunities for everyone. All roles involve safeguarding responsibilities, including an Enhanced Disclosure and Barring Service check. Full recruitment details are available on our website: century.tech/safer-recruitment-policy.