

Senior Product Manager

Location: a mix of office and home working so commuting to central London regularly

Contract: Permanent

Salary: £70,000-£85,000

Are you ready to shape the future of education?

CENTURY Tech is looking for an exceptional Senior Product Manager to take full ownership of one of our most strategically important product areas. If you want to build something meaningful - something that genuinely improves how people learn - this is the place to do it.

This role is perfect for an outcome-obsessed product leader who can operate comfortably with being strategic and deep in the details. You'll balance ambitious commercial outcomes with our core pedagogical mission, while inspiring a highly capable team to ship experiences that delight learners, educators and organisations around the world.

If you love solving complex problems, thrive in ambiguity, and want your work to have real, global impact, we'd love to meet you.

About CENTURY

Founded by entrepreneur Priya Lakhani OBE in 2013, CENTURY is a team of around 100 people dedicated to improving education through technology. Backed by long-term investors, our innovative AI-driven tools personalise learning and provide rich data insights to empower teachers and organisations. We partner with leading schools, universities, and companies globally.

What you'll do

As a Senior Product Manager at CENTURY, you'll take the lead on the strategy and delivery of a high-impact product area.

You will:

- Define an exciting and bold product strategy and roadmap for your product area.

- Drive Product discovery with a hypothesis-led approach, using qualitative insight and quantitative data to prioritise the highest-impact opportunities.
- Work closely with design and engineering, to ship scalable experiences that meet our customer's needs.
- Define success metrics, embed data-informed decision making and ensure we're shipping value, not just features.
- Partner with senior stakeholders across Engineering, Commercial and Customer Success to ensure alignment and momentum.
- Champion rapid learning and strong product practices, helping us balance reliability with innovation as we scale.

Who we're looking for

- You have deep experience shaping roadmaps and delivering features that create measurable customer and commercial impact
- You're passionate about the customer and able to effectively champion them throughout the product development lifecycle.
- You have strong data analysis skills and experience working with data teams to embed metrics into the product and customer journey.
- You are a strategic thinker who can seamlessly switch between the strategy and the execution, and communicate with clarity and conviction.
- You are not just comfortable with, but energised by, the ambiguity and pace of a scale-up environment. You see challenges as opportunities.
- You have a genuine passion for education and are motivated by using your skills to make a positive impact on the world.
- You are eligible to work in the UK.

Desirable experience

- Experience of working with API products and knowledge of AI and/or recommendation systems would be a huge plus.
- Experience and proven success in growing B2C products.
- Experience working with and building successful assessment products.

What we offer

- A competitive salary and benefits package.
- 25 days holiday (+5 rollover days) + bank holidays.
- Additional leave: your birthday off and three extra days between Christmas and New Year.

- A hybrid work model with access to our Central London office (we value in-person collaboration and expect 2-3 days in the office per week).
- The option, after one year, to work from overseas for up to 3 weeks annually (must follow UK working hours).
- The opportunity to join a passionate, mission-driven team that is dedicated to changing the world through education.

How to apply
