

GCSE Assembly

CENTURY is an online learning platform that schools have recently adopted. It provides you with a personalised learning path that constantly adapts, whilst providing your teachers with real-time data, allowing them to support you in different topics throughout the year. The platform is used by many schools for homework, classwork and revision to help improve student learning.

Our plan is that CENTURY will be used [in school/ for homework/ for revision/ other].

CENTURY recently published a report, focusing on their impact in schools. They analysed the GCSE results of Brighton Hill Community School that uses the platform in English, maths and science in Years 7 to 11. The analysis shows a strong correlation between regular platform use and improved academic outcomes.

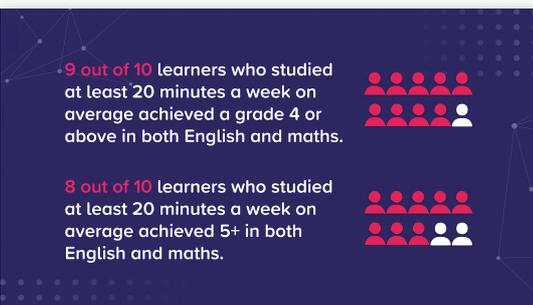

As shown, the most regular CENTURY users will, on average, achieve higher grade outcomes than moderate and less regular users.

Our expectations are that you all *[your expectations*]*.

- e.g: Complete 2 nuggets a week, per subject
- e.g: Complete all homework on CENTURY

**Please reach out to your dedicated account manager if you would like to discuss your CENTURY usage expectations further.*

9 out of 10 learners who studied at least 20 minutes, which is around 3 nuggets, a week on average achieved a grade 4 or above in both English and maths.

8 out of 10 learners who studied at least 20 minutes, or 3 nuggets a week on average achieved 5+ in both English and maths.

As you can see on these charts, regular CENTURY users achieve up to 3 grades higher in core subjects.

- Maths teachers will be setting homework on CENTURY
- You must complete 2 science nuggets from your Recommended Path or Smart Assignments per week
- You will be using CENTURY in your English lessons, once a week

So, how can you use CENTURY this year?

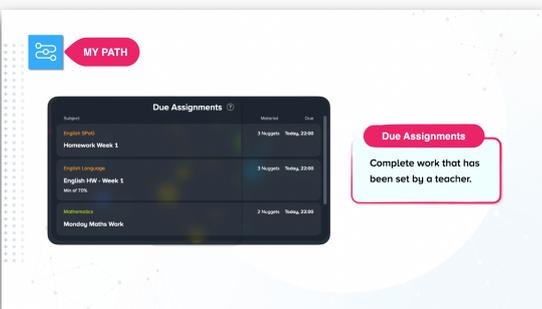

Each CENTURY course is completely aligned to your GCSE specification. The content is made by teachers and split into bite-size pieces of learning material called Nuggets. There are slideshows and videos for each nugget, so you can choose which suits you best.

Each nugget has questions to test your learning which also link directly to the specifications, so you're not only getting the benefit of high-quality learning material and explanations, but also plenty of retrieval practice.

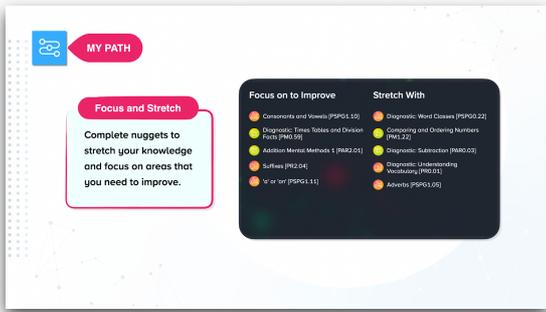

There are a number of ways to use CENTURY based on how you like to learn and revise.

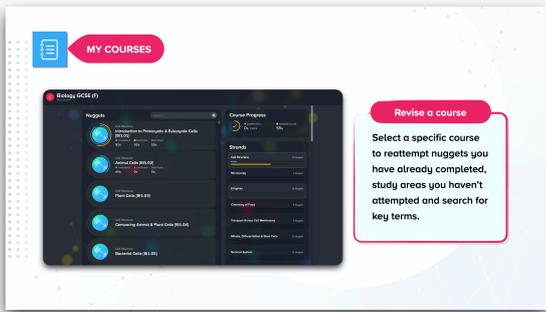

Firstly, you can follow your Recommended Path and complete work based on what you need to study next.

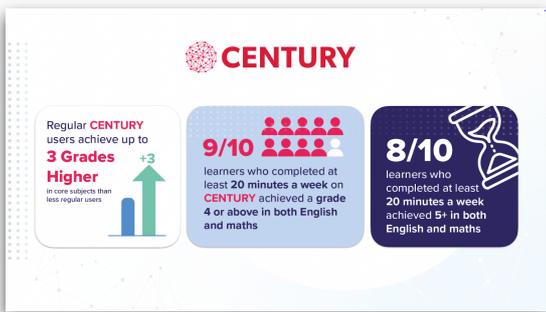

You can complete work set specifically by your teachers under Due Assignments.

You can work on your strengths and areas to improve on in the Focus and Stretch section.

Or, you can use the My Courses tab to focus on a specific course. Here, you can see an entire course. This means you can reattempt nuggets you have already completed, study areas you haven't attempted yet and search for key terms.

CENTURY will provide you with a personalised pathway to build your skills in [English/maths/science/Geography/PE].

This data shows a strong correlation between regular, consistent usage of the platform and higher student GCSE grades across core subjects.

We want you to make the most out of this platform going forward so please speak to your teachers if you have any questions.
